DEPARTURE OF PARTICIPANTS

MOOT COURT COMPETITION

1. Participation in the Moot Court Competition is a requirement of the Specialization Course in International Criminal Law. Each participant will be assigned to a three or four-person team. The side assigned to each team will be chosen by lot and may be changed as the competition proceeds. Each team will assign arguments to its members. Designations of team members assigned to specific arguments shall be communicated to the Supervisor in writing by May 29. In the preliminary rounds, participants will be evaluated as individuals, without affecting the overall ranking of each team. The semi-final rounds shall consist of 4 teams composed of 16 persons: the 4 best oralists per issue (2 on the Applicant teams and 2 on the Respondent teams). These teams will be chosen on the basis of each person's role in the preliminary rounds.
2. The judging criteria for each presentation will be: knowledge of the law; knowledge of the facts; legal analysis; oral presentation skills; and time management. The judges will rate the presenters on a scale of 0 to 2 points for each one of the five factors mentioned above. This gives a possible total of 10 points to each presenter.
3. The Moot Court Competition will be supervised by Mr. Steven Becker, Assistant Appellate Defender, Office of the State Appellate Defender - Illinois. Selection of teams for the preliminary rounds will be announced on May 25 from 19:30 - 20:30. The preliminary rounds can only be attended by the members of the two competing teams. The semi-finals and finals are open to the attendance of all participants, who are required to attend. After the preliminary rounds, new teams will be composed for the semi-finals. Participants will meet in the hotel lobby after the end of the preliminary rounds to hear the announcement of the results and the composition of the semi-finals teams.
4. Participants are encouraged to prepare for the Moot Court Competition in advance. The issues raised in the competition correspond to the themes addressed in the sessions of the course. The problem will be sent by e-mail to those who have been accepted to the course.
